Settled? Island, port deal close

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A "tentative agreement" that would settle annexation questions over Chouteau Island and federal property on both sides of the canal has been reached, Granite City, Madison and county officials said Wednesday.

As part of the agreement — which must be approved by the Madison, Venice and Granite City city councils and the Madison County Board — Granite City would take control of the Port District and Lock and Dam 27, while the city of Madison would get property it already has annexed on Chouteau Island.

The Port Authority would not change. The authority is the governing body of the Port District.

Each of the cities and the county would split proceeds of a new host agreement with Waste Management Inc.'s Chouteau Island landfill, with Madison receiving approximately 70 percent and each of the others

Ordinance violators vex city officials

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

Nuisance property owners and other ordinance violators in Granite City are getting under aldermen's skins, but city officials want to do more than just scratch.

"At Tuesday's council meeting," alderman asked what more could be done — beyond handing out citations — to property owners who continuously violate city ordinances for unkept property or operate in the city without a business license.

City Clerk Judy Whitaker issued a report last month detailing 60 businesses operating in the city without proper permission. City officials will be meeting today further to discuss that problem. Currently when a problem is found, the city inspector's office checks it out, and when necessary, issues citations. Vince Scrum, city inspector, said his department issues citations if violators haven't corrected the problem within a certain amount of time.

"Do we need to revisit the (license) ordinance and put more teeth in the enforcement aspect of it?" asked Alderman Eddie Asadorian, who appeared to want to do so. He asked

Man carrying goods arrested for burglary

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

Police officers had their suspicions confirmed when they discovered both an alleged burglar and a burglary in progress early Sunday.

Police arrested Edgar Rapert, 44, of the 2100 block of Cleveland on Sunday morning after they saw the suspect carry a VCR and several hand-held remotes while walking south on the 2000 block of Cleveland in Granite City. The officers watched the suspect place the VCR and remotes on a resident's front porch then walk away.

According to reports, the officers approached Rapert, and the suspect told them he was moving in with a friend but didn't remember the friend's name. Police then checked the property the suspect came from, an apartment on the 2100 block of Cleveland. They found signs of forced entry and damaged property in an apartment on the ground floor.

Officers looked through an open window and saw a ransacked apartment, including lamps knocked down and drawers emptied on the floor.

An apartment tenant said the occupant of the ransacked apartment had been gone since Aug. 27 and that

Courts speed up family rulings

By Dennis Grubaugh
Staff writer

A "rocket docket" will soon be launched to help expedite the enormous family case load in Madison County Circuit Court. Officially called a post-judgment docket, it will focus on issues that develop after rulings have been made on contested divorces and adoptions. Chief Associate Circuit Judge Randall Bono said.

"There is a lot of hostility created in post-divorce matters," Bono said. "Custodial parents aren't getting child support. Non-custodial parents aren't getting visitation rights. None of it is minor when it comes to families."

Speeding up the process will cut down on the tension.

"It used to take three to six months (to process a case). We're hoping to cut that down to six weeks," Bono said. "Justice delayed is justice denied, to coin an old phrase."

The rocket docket will be

Bids sought for study on bridge

VENICE

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The city of Venice is going ahead with plans to make major improvements to the McKinley Bridge.

At Tuesday's meeting, the City Council approved seeking bids for a traffic study on the bridge.

The study is the first step in seeking loans to make repairs.

Mayor Tyrone Echols said at previous meetings that the city may borrow up to $15 million to pay off outstanding bond debt on the McKinley Bridge and make additional improvements.

Echols said he has talked to officials with several banks about the project.

"We've had some good conversations, but who knows how that's sounding," he said. "I think they'll

Residents flood board with zoning concerns

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Plans to re-zone a former Madison County park in Pontoon Beach for single-family homes is drawing opposition from neighboring residents.

Two separate property owners seeking to have land in the 4100 block of Reville Lane re-zoned from business to residential.

Residents and officials are concerned about flooding in the area.

Michael A. Barton seeks re-zoning of 2.4 acres of land at 4135 Reville Lane. A public hearing has been set for 5:30 p.m. today, Thursday, at the site.

At a hearing last Thursday, the Zoning Board approved a request by Antonio and Lori Silva to re-zone 4117 Reville Lane from business to residential. Adjacent property would be zoned agricultural.

About 30 neighbors attended the hearing to object to the re-zoning.

Once voted on by the Zoning Board, the Village Board must vote on the matter. Both could be voted on as early as next Tuesday.

The land, on the northeast side of the Illinois 111 railroad overpass, was a county park at one time. However, the county got out of the park business more than a decade ago.

The matter came up at the last Village Board meeting but was referred to the zoning board.

Nameoki Township Clerk Helen Hawkins said many residents in the Quiet Valley neighborhood have concerns about flooding.

John Ray wants big bucks for his side of story

A brother of convicted assassin James Earl Ray wants to unlock the mystery into the assassination of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., a former top federal investigator said.

the murder of King. John Ray told the Memphis Commercial Appeal newspaper on Sunday that he could solve the King case for a "six-figure" payment from the U.S. Justice Department.

John Ray may be the key person to the final solution of the 30-year-old case of the assassination of the famous civil rights leader, Baetz said.

CAROL'S COMMENTS

Baseball team, Murray's death, board round out good, sad, ugly

Some mixed commentary this week. Call it the good, the sad and the ugly, if you will.

First, the good. That's Edwardsville's Post 199 9-4 victory over Cherryville, N.C., in Las Vegas, making them the 1998 American Legion World Series champs.

Most members on the team were players on the Edwardsville Tigers team that earlier in the year won the Illinois Class AA high school championship, a feat that left them with a 401 season. This reinforced the belief of local fans that they are No. 1 in high school baseball and that USA Today has been way off base when it rated them No. 6. Congratulations, guys.

The sad. It is to me at least and I'm sure, to millions of readers nationwide, the death last month of sports columnist Jim Murray at age 78.

Not tragic, of course, at that age, but he'll be missed by those who enjoyed his style. Murray, who had written for the Los Angeles Times for well over 35 years and whose column was nationally syndicated, was still writing twice a week.

There was a time when area papers carried his columns on a fairly regular basis and it was then I began reading them, in spite of the fact that my daily attention to the sports section is cursory at best.

Somewhere, tucked away in what I laughingly call my "files," are several clips of Murray columns that I felt were simply too good to throw out but owing to the disorganization of the system, I can find only one of them quickly after reading his obit.

The column dealt with three well-educated and baseball players whose hobby was presenting themselves as ignorant louts, called themselves "the three maroons," (morons), which as Murray explained, led eavesdroppers to consider the three as "refugees from remedial basket weaving."

He listed examples from their glossary, all riotous. "Humility" is most often in the air, often accompanied by a high temperament. "Ineptitude," test you take to enter college. "Enigma" a relief for constipation. "Acoustic" what you play pool with. "Omnipotent," sexual hangup. "Disciplinarian," one of the 12 guys at the Last Supper. You get the picture.

Murray, one of only four

sportswriters to have received a Pulitzer Prize for commentary, especially like writing about golf, boxing and horse racing so it seemed fitting to me that, according to his obituary, he had just returned home from the track and written a column about the feature race when he died. I hope he'd won a trifecta that afternoon.

The ugly. That's the inflexible, to my mind, arrogant, attitude of the Madison County Board in its determination to close the county's nursing and shelter care homes for the elderly.

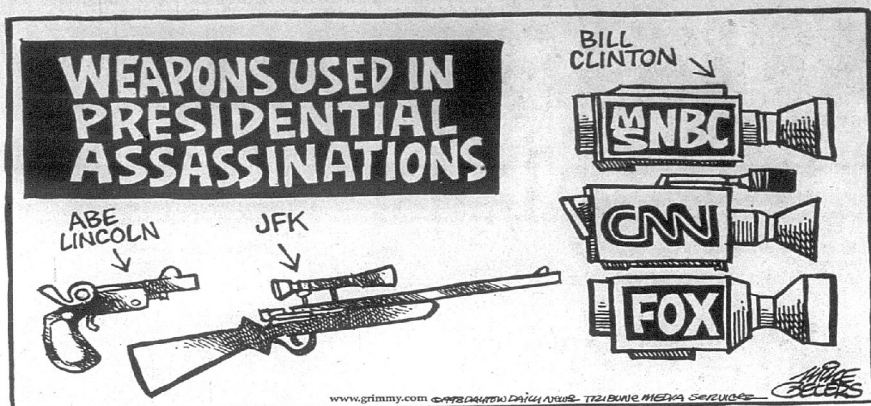

It happened despite strong public support for keeping them operational and announcement the board has been told by the Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board that the county's application to close the two centers would be denied. And that board's advice to the county to explore creative alternatives.

At a board meeting Aug. 19, the subject was discussed only in a closed session and Board Chairman Rudy Papa's only comment following that session was a terse, "Our interest is in closing the homes."

Edwardsville board member Robert Stille, who would like to keep the homes open, said no vote was taken in the closed session. Stille was quoted as saying that, had there been a vote, it would have been close and I think he's right.

The original vote to close them that (11-12) — and public opposition may well have changed some minds since then. That's why I am supporting one reason that while Papa remains adamant about closing the nursing home Nov. 30 he now says the county may have to continue to maintain the shelter care home until suitable plans can be found for its residents and admits that "it may take some time."

All heart, these fellows, huh? I've come to agree with whoever said that what this country needs is more unemployed politicians.

Some days it's good to be just Dave

First of all I want to thank all the concerned readers who inquired via email concerning the fact I did not have a column in last week's paper.

It was not the Journals' fault. I decided to take a week off from writing simply because things in agriculture are so depressed I felt I needed to get away from it for a day or two.

Last Friday was the last day my daughter had off before school started, and up until then, we hadn't had much time to spend together over the summer — it seems to go by so quickly.

Christy, the younger of my two daughters and I decided to do some of the things tourists from all over the world do when they come to St. Louis. I had never been to the Missouri Botanical Gardens, I had never eaten lunch on the floating McDonald's, and believe it or not, I had never been up in the arch.

This was to be a day to relax, kick back and forget about agriculture, broadcasting on the radio and writing newspaper columns.

The day was a perfect late summer day — not too hot, but yet humid enough we couldn't forget we were in St. Louis.

First stop, the gardens, a place I found to be much larger than I had expected. I found it to be very tourist friendly. The flowers, especially the roses, seemed to be very well cared for and seemed to be the most colorful this time of the year.

We walked and talked about the many different varieties of plants and suddenly found ourselves in the middle of the vegetable garden, where we found corn growing.

Suddenly I found myself examining the crop from the "farm guy" angle. It was scary for a moment, but Christy quickly reminded me we were only tourists. She told me to let it go — I think that means forget it.

The day continued with a trip to the boat for lunch and then on to the highlight of the day: The one-hour wait to go to the top of the arch.

The guide who was loading the cars asked where everybody was from — Texas, New York, Mexico, etc. I was a little embarrassed to admit I lived so close and had never been to the top, so I said I was from Belleville with a (hard to believe) southern twang so some of the folks would think I was just another tourist.

But I feel better after a time out!

1998 Act wages war against poverty

By U.S. Sen. Dick Durbin
By nearly every measure, we have the strongest economy of this generation. Worker productivity is rising, the federal deficit has disappeared, and we have the lowest unemployment rate in 24 years and the lowest core inflation rate in three decades.

Despite these rosy statistics, many Americans are not reaping the rewards of our economy. Even in the minimum-wage workers, for example, earn just $10.72 a year — $2,600 below the poverty level for a family of three. According to a recent survey conducted by the U.S. Conference of Mayors, 38 percent of those seeking emergency food aid last year were employed, a 23 percent increase from 1994. And while the wealthiest 5 percent of this country saw investments increase by an average of $51,000 in 1996, the Census Bureau reports that real wages of middle- and low-income American workers are less than those of a decade ago. While it is true that more Americans than ever are working, many new jobs are not paying enough to make ends meet. That's why I am supporting the Fair Minimum Wage Act of 1998.

This legislation would raise the minimum hourly wage from $5.15 to $6.15 over the next 16 months, restoring the real value of the minimum wage to the level of the early 1980s. And while an hourly increase of $1 may not seem like a lot, it's enough to pay for six months of groceries, 10 months of rent or an entire year's worth of basic health care.

Opponents claim that raising the minimum wage will cost American jobs. What they don't say is that after the last increase in 1996, unemployment actually fell. In fact, nearly 24 studies since 1982 have concluded that small increases in the minimum wage have no detectable effect on unemployment.

Critics also claim that only teenagers who work part time are minimum-wage workers. The reality is that 74 percent of those who will benefit from an increase are adults, 50 percent are full-time workers and 40 percent are the sole breadwinners in their families. More than 370,000 workers in Illinois, or more than 7 percent of the state's work force, would be affected by the increase.

As we celebrate Labor Day this year, we ought to commit ourselves to the principle that Americans who go to work every day should be paid at least enough to put a roof over their heads and food on the table for their families. Let's make that principle a reality by passing the Fair Minimum Wage Act of 1998.

Do you want our American flag burned? We must pass the law. Call 1(800)424-FLAG, and please tell them to pass the law and that we do not want our beautiful American flag burned. I hope everyone sees this.

Drowned victim was 71-year-old Missouri man

A 71-year-old Missouri fisherman drowned Friday when his waders filled with water and he was pulled down the Mississippi River.

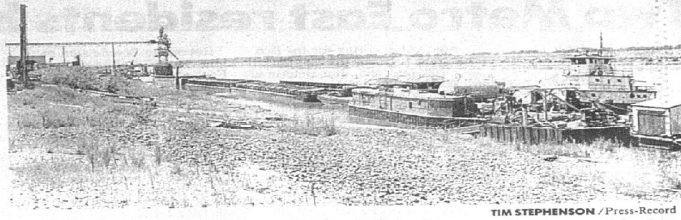

The body of David Hairston of St. Louis was pulled from the river later that morning near the low water dam under the Old Chain of Rocks Bridge.

Witnesses said the man had been wading and stepped into a hole, and the current pulled him down the river. They saw him struggle to stay afloat but were unable to get to him in time.

Twin Rivers Rescue recovered his body at about noon from near the dam.

In addition to the Mitchell and Long Lake fire departments, Twin Rivers Rescue, Bubblemasters Underwater Rescue Team, the Coast Guard and a boat from the St. Louis City Fire Department participated in the search and recovery.

•Deal

receiving 10 percent. The county would also continue to receive its "tipping fee" from the landfill.

In addition, Madison would support Granite City's claim to federal land on the east side of the canal, while Granite City would support Madison's claim on the west side. Annexation of that land would require an act of Congress.

County-owned property on the island, part of the buyout from the 1993 and 1995 floods, would be annexed by Madison and probably become the property of the city.

The agreement stems from Madison's annexation of about 600 acres of land on the island in 1996. That annexation spurred a lawsuit by Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine.

The suit was dismissed, but Haine's office filed a motion to reconsider, giving them time to negotiate a deal.

"It looks like we've reached some kind of an agreement in the last two days," said Madison Mayor John Hamm. "I feel everybody should get a little bit out of this."

Negotiations have carried on since the original annexation lawsuit was dismissed in July. Haine served as the go-between for negotiations.

On Tuesday, the Granite Council approved giving Mayor Ron Selph authority to make the agreement.

Federal land adds to the complexity of the negotiations. The land, owned by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, cannot be annexed without the permission of all the interested municipalities and the approval of U.S. Congress.

Venice's stake in the deal would be 10 percent of the host agreement, approximately $75,000 per year. The county and Granite City would receive similar shares.

Hamm said Wednesday afternoon he had contacted Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols, who planned a special Venice City Council meeting.

Another factor in negotiations is that an East Coast company is considering the Port District as one of several locations for an $80 million manufacturing plant.

Because of the competitive nature of the company's business, officials asked that it not be named at this time.

The plant would employ approximately 100 people.

However, some kind of incentive, most likely inclusion in a tax increment financing district, probably would be necessary to bring the company to this area. That would require the land to be located within a municipality.

Haine said he was pleased to see the situation settled.

"It's always better to settle lawsuits between governmental bodies than let a case go on, only the lawyers win, the taxpayers loose."

More important, he said the settlement showed that the county and cities can work together.

"This is not just a settlement of the case, but a sign that the cities are joining together with the county for economic development that will benefit everybody," he said.

Jury finds 'trigger man' guilty

By Paul A. Brinkmann
Staff writer

A federal jury convicted the alleged "trigger man" of the New Order white supremacist weapons conspiracy Monday after four hours of deliberation.

Wallace S. Weicherding Sr., 64, of Salem, was the only member of the conspiracy to seek a jury trial. The other three members have pleaded guilty to similar charges.

The jury found Weicherding guilty of two felony counts: conspiring to possess an illegal machine gun and actually possessing such a weapon.

Defense attorney Renee Schooley had argued that Weicherding was simply a "drunk old man" and that his beliefs as a white supremacist were on trial.

"They (New Order members) remind me of the bully on the playground," Schooley said. "But when Morris Dees, their No. 1 target, came to town, what happened? Nothing."

Weicherding allegedly went to a Dees speech at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in January with the intent to kill the civil rights attorney, but Weicherding turned around at the door to the event.

However, the all-white jury apparently rejected what a prosecutor called the "great beer defense."

"I'm sorry for the pun, but you have to say, bud, you should have been wiser," said assistant U.S. Attorney Norm Smith.

Among evidence presented at the trial were weapons found in Weicherding's home and materials advertising the Ku Klux Klan and Aryan Nations, a militant white supremacist group.

Smith said Weicherding's actions were "scary" and were not protected by freedom of speech.

"We've been accused of somehow trying to punish his freedom of speech, but when someone says they are threatening to kill Jews and blacks, that certainly goes toward their intent and motive," Smith said.

Weicherding was the only one of four members of the New Order group to seek a jury trial. The others all pleaded guilty to similar charges months ago and are awaiting sentencing.

Weicherding's home on Nation Road in Salem was raided Feb. 28 by agents with the FBI and Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Bureau. Those agencies also raided the home of the alleged New Order leader, Dennis M. McGiffen, 38, of Wood River.

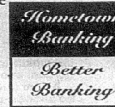

Weicherding faces a combined sentence of 15 years for both counts.

Two Metro East residents helping in wake of storms

By Becky Garrison
Staff writer

Two local Red Cross workers were among the first wave of people to travel to the East Coast and southwest Texas to help in the aftermath of Hurricane Bonnie and Tropical Storm Charley.

Determan, a retired bookkeeper from Swansea, has been volunteering for the Red Cross since the flood of '93. Her husband, Jim Determan, said that he and his wife have been going to classes and are now Disaster Services Human Resource members.

"This is the first time she has gone by herself," said Determan, who stayed home to care for his grandchildren. He said the two have volunteered at five national disaster sites across the United States. He said his wife will work in staffing, processing local volunteers, and will be gone three weeks.

Hurricane Bonnie slammed into North Carolina at Cape Fear about 1 p.m. Aug. 26 with winds of 115 miles per hour, which dropped to 105 miles per hour after nightfall.

Angela Hornaday, public relations specialist for the American Red Cross, said Carter left in an Emergency Response Vehicle. He will be gone two to three weeks, she said. She added that the ERV plays an important role in disaster relief.

"Each ERV is capable of serving 1,000 meals a day," Hornaday said.

Bonnie was downgraded to a tropical storm Aug. 27. It dumped heavy rain on parts of eastern North Carolina, threatening severe flooding as it moved northeastward across the state's coastal plain.

Carter was dispatched from the operation headquarters in Nashville, Hornaday said. Determan told KTVI FOX 2 News that she feared people had forgotten how much damage there is in Texas.

Determan reported to the Staging Area Operation Headquarters in San Antonio, Hornaday said.

Tropical Storm Charley struck the Texas coast near Corpus Christi Aug. 22 and swept inland where its remnants have parked over southwest Texas.

The 18 inches of rain dumped on Del Rio Sunday was more than the usually arid region receives in a year, forecasters said.

"More than 1,000 people have been forced to take refuge at a makeshift shelter," Hornaday said.

Hornaday added that all American Red Cross disaster assistance is free, made possible by voluntary donation of time and money from the American people.

To help the victims of these or other disasters, contributions can be made to the American Red Cross Disaster Relief Fund by calling 1-800-HELP-NOW. Contributions can also be made on-line by visiting www.redcross.org.

Despite mass rush, SIUE keeps hungry Cougars satisfied

By Linda N. Weller

Renovations to the lower restaurant area of Delyte W. Morris University Center aren't quite completed, but no one is going hungry at SIUE's Woodland and Prairie residence halls.

To head off mass rushes into the dining hall area, food is available at new satellite stations in Woodland Hall and the first floor of University Center.

Also, hours at the Cougar Den area in the lower level cafeteria have been expanded to cut down on lines of hungry diners.

"We've made several provisions," said Michael Schultz, director of university housing. "There is a cart in Woodland serving continental breakfast and we're having snack foods there at night.

"We also put a satellite (cart) that is operating in University Center on the first floor so they can get 'grab and go' salads, sandwiches and beverages which will take off some of the rush" at the cafeteria, Schultz said.

More than 1,000 Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville students live in the two residence halls. Plans are to expand the dining area to accommodate the influx of residents from Prairie Hall, which opened last month.

The $700,000 in renovations are expected to be completed by Oct. 1, said SIUE spokesman Keith Nichols.

The delays, he said, were caused by contractors putting a priority on finishing Prairie Hall first. Also, a vendor forced the university to redesign part of the dining area.

Nichols said the cafeteria is going to be enlarged, including the delicatessen which is being moved to larger quarters behind a glass wall at the far end of the dining room.

Next to the deli will be a new feature, a Chick-Fil-A outlet. The cafeteria area already has Pizza Hut and Taco Bell stands, which are being enlarged.

Improvements are being made to better direct traffic flow. Also, an 1,100-square-foot patio was added and the university purchased more furniture for the area. Also added were more ventilation and exhaust systems and a fire suppression system.

Schultz said he is pleasantly surprised at how smoothly everything is going at the residence halls, even without a cafeteria large enough to handle everyone at once.

Woodland and Prairie are completely filled, he said, and nearly all of the Cougar Village apartments are occupied.

Overall, university housing has about 2,400 residents and is 98 percent filled to capacity, said Schultz.

State's attorney staffer killed in murder-suicide, local department says

By Sanford J. Schmidt
Staff writer

Members of the state's attorney's staff were shocked Monday to learn that one of their own had been killed in a murder-suicide, the apparent victim of family violence.

"We're devastated," State's Attorney William R. Haine said. "A domestic violence case has touched even the State's Attorney's Office."

Tammy A. Underwood, 38, a supervisor in the Child Support Division of the State's Attorney's Office, was fatally shot Saturday morning, apparently by her husband, Roy E. Underwood, 48, who then killed himself, the Madison County Sheriff's Department said.

The couple's bodies were discovered by their 18-year-old daughter at the family home, 2734 Villet St. in Highland. Deputies arrived about 10:20 a.m. and found the Underwoods, the victims of single gunshot wounds. The Underwoods had been married about seven years.

"Although details of the incident will not be released, evidence at the scene and subsequent autopsies indicate that this incident is a murder-suicide," Chief Deputy Robert Hertz said.

"Usually, it is the absence of something, that indicates this type of incident."

For example, he said, there was no sign of forced entry,

'A domestic violence case has touched even the State's Attorney's Office.'

William R. Haine

and no items were missing from the home, indicating it was not a robbery.

Haine said Monday was a sad day at the State's Attorney's Office.

"We're something akin to a little family," he said. "Tammy was here for more than 10 years and had become a supervisor. She was very talented and very pleasant and courteous to members of the public. She revealed to maintain a friendly face."

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Recently a man contacted this office with a question regarding the custody of his eight year old son. The man had been divorced three years earlier, and his ex-wife was awarded custody of the boy. The father was given visitation every other weekend, two weeks in the summer, and alternating major holidays.

The father indicated that his son had reached a point where he no longer wished to live with his mother. During his father's visitation periods, the boy would continually indicate that he wanted to remain with his father. On Sunday nights, he did not want to return home to his mother and begged his father to keep him.

The father asked whether he could keep the boy in his custody contrary to the terms of the judgment of dissolution. The father was told that he had to abide by the terms of the original court order until the divorce decree was modified. If he kept the boy in his custody without modifying the original judgment of dissolution, the father could be held in contempt of court.

What would the father have to demonstrate in order to change custody in this situation? He would have to show that there had been a substantial change in circumstances since the original dissolution of marriage. He would further have to prove that it was in the best interests of the child that custody be awarded to the father.

What types of things would be Court consider when deciding whether custody should be modified? Perhaps a father in this situation could demonstrate that the mother was abusive. In some cases, the mother may not be meeting the physical or emotional needs of the child. The non-custodial father may want to employ a psychologist to determine whether the child's emotional needs would be better served by a change in custody, and if so, to testify to that. In any event, the burden of proof in a case of this nature would be on the father to show that there has been a substantial change in circumstances. If the father does not meet this burden, custody will remain with the mother.

A final question was whether the child would be allowed to testify regarding his wishes as to custody. The Court may allow him to testify, depending on his maturity, but his wishes would not be binding on the Court.

people who were involved in a conspiracy in St. Louis to murder King for $50,000," Baetz said in an interview Monday.

James Earl Ray, 70, died April 23 of liver disease in a Tennessee prison, ending his 30-year court battle to prove that he did not kill King on April 4, 1968, in Memphis. Ray had pleaded guilty to the murder of King, but later recanted his confession, claiming he was forced to admit his guilt in the King slaying.

Ray grew up in Alton as a petty criminal and became one of the most notorious criminals in the country for the murder of King.

Four months after Ray's death, U.S. Attorney General Janet Reno announced last week that the Justice Department will reopen a "limited" investigation of the case.

Baetz uncovered key evidence as he crisscrossed the country for 18 months in 1977-78 as a lead investigator into the King murder for the U.S. House Select Committee on Assassinations. Baetz was a former Madison County deputy sheriff when he was picked for the investigative team to probe King's assassination.

Investigation by Baetz disclosed that Ray killed King to collect a $50,000 bounty offered by a nucleus of hard-core white supremacists who had secret meetings in St. Louis.

"If John Ray tells the truth, he may know the names of the people involved in the conspiracy to assassinate King," Baetz said.

The plot to murder the civil rights leader originated in meetings of radical racists in a St. Louis home on Arsenal Street in late 1967 and 1968, Baetz's investigations revealed.

The meetings were held in a house less than 100 yards from the former Grapevine Tavern, operated by John Ray in St. Louis," Baetz said.

get more serious about it when they look and see what your ability to pay is, what kind of revenues are projected."

The borrowed money would be in addition to about $11 million in state and federal funds earmarked for bridge repairs over the next five years.

By refinancing and combining with state and federal funds, the city could do approximately $20 million worth of renovations.

About $4.3 million in outstanding bonds will come due on Oct. 1. Bridge officials have said previously that because of increased spending on repairs, there is no way they can make that payment and the bonds will be in default for at least six years.

At the recommendation of engineers, the city has doubled both the repair crews and inspection crews for the bridge to about $700,000 per year.

In a related matter, Echols said the Illinois Department of Transportation has agreed to allow the city to use the state funds earmarked for the bridge as the local match for the federal funds.

Most federal projects require a local match, usually about 20 percent of the total cost.

News IN REVIEW

Editor's note: News in Review provides a summary of some of the past week's stories. This column is intended for out-of-town readers who do not receive the Sunday and Wednesday Journals.

Madison students' scores rise by almost 20 percent in 1997

MADISON — Students in the Madison School District have made dramatic improvements in standardized tests.

Superintendent Gary Allison said raw data from the Illinois State Board of Education showed the district's 1996 school year Illinois Goal Assessment Program scores — the standardized scores used in the school district's "report card" — showed an almost 20 percent increase from last year.

Although acknowledging that the district test scores are still below state standards, Allison said it appears that they are moving in the right direction.

"Seventeen out of 18 of the tests (areas) showed improvements," he said.

Allison said the average change was 18.98 percent, compared to a statewide average increase of 2.05 percent.

The tests are given to third, fourth, sixth, seventh, eighth, tenth and eleventh-grade students in reading, math, writing, science and social science.

Allison said improvements ranged from a high of 54.7 percent in sixth-grade reading to 3.14 percent in third-grade writing.

Friends say farewell to Dawes

GRANITE CITY — Granite City friends and family said farewell to a former firefighter in a funeral procession Aug. 28 down Maryville Road.

Robert Dawes, who retired as a Granite City fire captain in 1996, died suddenly Sunday at age 52.

In a show of respect, fire trucks raised their ladders in salute while the procession went by. Fellow firefighters, including Chief Keith Talley, had nothing but praise for Dawes.

Dawes became very active in fire cause and origin investigations, Talley said, and because of a dedication to his own children, Dawes was compelled to become highly involved in the state juvenile firefighter program, which he brought to Granite City.

Police cash in on mistake of alleged bank robber

GRANITE CITY — Plenty of witnesses plus a would-be bank robber's own mistake helped police quickly catch him shortly after he allegedly committed the deed.

Police on Friday afternoon arrested James L. Lindell, 42, of Granite City after conducting a rapid search near Magna Bank, 1960 Edison, immediately following the robbery.

U.S. Attorney Charles Grace has filed federal charges against Lindell. If convicted, he faces up to 10 years in prison, a $250,000 fine or both. A bond hearing is set for Thursday in U.S. District Court in East St. Louis.

According to police reports, the suspect came to Magna Bank to cash a $12.19 payroll check that had his listed address on it although it was incorrect. The suspect jumped on the counter and took $4,500 and ran away.

After a rapid, well-conducted investigation, police found him in the nearby apartment of two women who may face obstruction charges for hiding Lindell.

Deal ends strike for most dealer mechanics

METRO EAST — Most area mechanics were back at work Tuesday morning at area auto dealers.

An agreement was reached Friday night in the talks between striking Machinists and the St. Clair-Madison County Automotive Dealers Association. About 200 mechanics met Sunday morning at the Machinists' labor temple in Caseyville and ratified the agreement.

There is still no agreement in the talks between Local 313 and the Belleville New Car Dealers Association. The machinists had gone out on strike against both organizations on Aug. 3.

Kevin Steinacher, a journeyman mechanic with the union, said the agreement is a three-year deal with hourly wage increases of 79 cents on Aug. 1, 1998; 85 cents on Aug. 1, 1999; and 85 cents on Aug. 1, 2000.

I-255 opening slated for October

MADISON COUNTY — While a definite date has not been set, the next leg of Interstate 255 is about to open.

The $48 million highway extension is expected to have a major impact on development in the area.

James Easterly, regional director of the Illinois Department of Transportation, said the newest section — from I-270 to Illinois 143 — should open in early October.

There will be a ribbon-cutting ceremony in the northbound lane of I-255 near the Madison Avenue intersection in Roxana.

In addition to giving motorists from the Roxana-Wood River area a straight shot at an interstate connection, the road should also ease pressure on Illinois 157 and 159 in Edwardsville, Easterly said.

Event touts unions, political involvement

Hundreds are expected to celebrate the union label in style at this weekend's Labor Jam 1998.

Members of the Young Democrats of Madison County and the Greater Madison County Federation of Labor are inviting all to come out and show their union support and get registered to vote.

Proceeds from the Labor Jam will also go toward building a park in Alton. Several Democrat candidates for office or their representatives are scheduled to appear, including Jo Postard, wife of Rep. Gelfin Postard; candidate for governor; representatives of U.S. Sen. Carol Mosely-Braun's campaign; Jesse White, candidate for secretary of state; State Sen. Evelyn Bowles; State Rep. Steve Davis and Jay Hoffman; Bob Daiber, running for the 110th District seat; Kirsti Vetrli, running for the 55th District state senate seat; and Michael "Doc" Holliday Sr., Kenny Myers and Mike Fruth, all candidates for the Madison County Board.

Fire fund to help 2 families

Friends have established trust funds for two local families whose home burned to the ground Aug. 22.

The fire destroyed the home of the Parris and Latchford families at 2036 Edwardsville Road, on the Madison-Granite City border. No one was injured in the fire.

The Granite City and Madison fire departments responded to the call. A cause has not yet been determined, but a gas leak may be responsible. All the windows were blown out of the house.

Most of the two families were not home; one adult had taken all nine children to Wilson Park, so all the children were wearing swimming apparel. Because they didn't have any other clothing, the Red Cross has supplied them with several new outfits each, a friend of the family said.

The trust funds were established at Central Bank, 3303 Nameoki Road in Granite City. Donations should be sent to Central in care of the Parris Family Trust Fund and the Latchford Family Trust Fund.

Businesses have a right to due process, said Mayor Ron Selph. But Selph also said a new ordinance dealing with the problem is in the works.

The discussion led to another vexing problem — unsightly properties. Alderman Craig Tarpoff brought up a long-running problem with a property owner at 27th and Nameoki. The city has been after the owner for years to keep the grass cut. The property owner told the city to stay off his property.

feet tall," Tarpoff said. "People next door to this parcel have endured this problem for the past five years."

Scrum said that the city had issued citations and had even out the grass there. Scrum said he didn't have a problem with sending someone to cut the grass after a citation has been issued.

For the majority of residents, if they receive a citation, they correct the problem, and that's the end of it, Jensen said.

Jensen said a violator could, in unusual circumstances for long-running problems, be fined every single day for non-compliance since the original citation was issued. However, the city can only ask that from a judge when a violation actually goes to court.

"After the (original) fine is paid, we can issue a new citation," Jensen said.

Therrien lies the problem, said Alderman Mac Warfield. "These people are making fools of us," Warfield said. They pay up to a $150 fine, but the problem continues.

"If we issue a citation every day for $150, I would think that after a while, they'd clean it up. But if we don't do that, they just sit there and wait for someone to come out again."

A violator can't be jailed under city ordinance. Only a judge could do that for finding the person in contempt of a state violation, Selph said.

"These people who are abusers of it full well know that," Selph said. "They know the system enough to get around it."

lis, Wendell Durr and Michael Meehan.

"We're hoping to get about 40 post-judgment motions a week," Bono said.

Bono is implementing the plan at the behest of Chief Judge Andrew Mateosian, who has said family court will be one of the priorities of his term, which began July 1.

Mateosian said many rocket docket issues can be decided in a single hearing. Cases can involve settling disputes over college expenses, clothing allowance, temporary child support and violations of child visitation rights, he said.

"A contested family case can be very involved" because of such issues as pensions and multiple wage-earner families, Mateosian said.

Legion helping pay for helmet

All units of American Legion Post 113 in Granite City are helping the Granite City Fire Department purchase a thermal imaging helmet.

Although the unit is technical, it is easy to operate. The biggest concept for the helmet is that it saves lives.

Anyone interested in viewing how the helmet works, with hands-on or monitor viewing, is invited for a demonstration 4 p.m. Sept. 26 in Post 113, 1825 State St. Following the presentation, there will be an auction and dinner dance. Cost is $5 per person, $8 per couple.

All proceeds from sales and admission will go directly to the fire department for the thermal imaging helmet. Anyone wishing to make contributions but are unable to attend should call Lynda Cowley at 877-6114 or Ken Wallace, Post 113 commander, at 876-2902.

The fund-raiser has the support of Fire Chief Keith Talley and the department.

Dogs to get their day

By Glen Sparks
Staff writer

St. Louis Union Station is going to the dogs Sept. 12.

The Humane Society of Missouri is sponsoring the second annual Dog Days, an event that recognizes St. Louis' finest and most talented pooches.

Dog Days follows in the tradition of the old Ugly Dog Contest, a popular event sponsored for several years by the Suburban Journals.

Owners can register their four-legged friends in the south end plaza area of Union Station from 11:30 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. on the day of the event. Dog Days is scheduled from 1 to 4 p.m.

Dogs can compete in a number of off-beat categories, including "Best Pet Trick" and the "Suburban Journals Best Newspaper Fetch" contest.

The tail-wagging competition promises to be a little easier. Some dogs never seem to stop moving their tails from one side to another.

And to be fair, the Humane Society has a separate contest for dogs such as Boston terriers that wiggle more than wag.

For more information on Dog Days, call St. Louis Union Station at 421-6655.

Splash City offers one more weekend

Water park finishing up its first season

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

The kids are back in school, the days are getting shorter and the evenings are cooling down.

But you still have time for one last summer hurrah at Splash City. The Collinsville Area Recreation District's water park will remain open through the holiday weekend. The park is open from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily.

Labor Day is its final day of the season, though. The $5 million water park opened July 11 in Eastport Plaza.

"It's been a short but good summer," said CARD Executive Director Mark Badasch.

Badasch said the park, which opened weeks after its planned Memorial Day opening, has had more than 32,000 visitors in its first season.

"We feel very good about that," Badasch said.

The slides are the main attraction of the park. Two different paths of more than 100 feet each bring riders in for a big splash. Swimmers can use giant "lily pads" to get across the splash pool or use a rope suspended above them. Water bikes, water guns and even water jets are among its other features.

The first season had its quirks. The park didn't get all of the equipment it was supposed to. Some that it got didn't quite meet expectations.

"We've got some deck furniture that needs replacing or repairs but the manufacturers are being pretty good about it," Badasch said.

"Crystal Creek," a lazy river area where visitors can float on an innertube or just enjoy the water, was a little more vigorous than staff or guests anticipated.

"We had to dial back the current," Badasch said. "It was a little too aggressive and some people needed some help from a lifeguard to get out."

new and the bugs just have to be worked out," Badasch said. "But in talking to people, we've gotten a lot of positive feedback. A lot of things have gone right."

Birthday party packages are one of them. Badasch said they were very popular, as were other private parties and pavilion rentals. The park is the "perfect" location for business outings, he said.

"You can bring a family or if you don't have children, everybody can still mix," Badasch said. "You aren't separated into groups with and without children like you are in most picnic settings."

Admission to the park is $8.50 for adults and $6 for children (16 and under) unless you live within CARD limits. Then it is $6 for adults and $4 for children. Children under 2 get in free.

African exhibit coming to Museum

Masterpieces from Central Africa will run Sept. 11 through Nov. 28

A display of masterpieces coming to the St. Louis Art Museum not only convey the power inherent in their original purpose, they exemplify the African aesthetic that has influenced modern, abstract and expressionist art forms in other parts of the world during this century.

The Masterpieces from Central Africa exhibit will be on display Sept. 11 through Nov. 28.

This international exhibition represents one of the richest and most famous collections of African art in the world.

For the first touring exhibition in its history, the Royal Museum for Central Africa has selected 125 of the finest objects from its extensive collection.

Most of the objects are from the Democratic Republic of Congo, formerly Zaire, in the region of Central Africa once known as the Belgian Congo.

Masterpieces from Central Africa mark the centennial of the Royal Museum for Central Africa. Established in 1897-98 by King Leopold II to display and study the artifacts and scientific specimens being collected in what was then a Belgian colony, the museum was inaugurated in its present structure in 1910 by Leopold's successor, King Albert.

The Museum has remained a scientific institution and has continued its dedication to the collection and ethnographic study of artifacts, flora, fauna and minerals from Central Africa.

The St. Louis showing of the exhibition was underwritten in part by Anheuser-Busch Companies Inc. and by The Jordan Charitable Foundation.

Additional financial assistance for the exhibition was provided by the Missouri Arts Council, a state agency.

Japanese Festival offers insight into the East

By Clayton Berry
Staff writer

Very few St. Louis events seem to culminate in such a combination of education and entertainment as the Missouri Botanical Garden's annual Japanese Festival.

Again the Gateway to the West provides insight into the East with the festival Sept. 5 through 7. Newcomers and old hands alike can walk away with a greater appreciation and understanding of Japanese culture, not to mention a few new words in their vocabulary.

The 22-year old festival, renowned for its authentic snapshot of Japanese culture, has attracted thousands in the past. Last year an estimated 35,000 people took in the colorful sights and sounds.

"We get people who come from all over the country specifically for the Japanese Festival," festival coordinator Jim Kalkbrenner said.

Held in the Japanese Garden, one of the oldest and largest in the nation, the three-day celebration reveals the beauty of traditional Japanese performing and fine arts.

"It has significant cultural value," Kalkbrenner said.

On Sept. 5 and 6, the festival runs from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. On Sept. 7, things get under way at 10 a.m. and wrap up at 5 p.m. The cost is $6 for adults, $4.50 for senior citizens and $2 for Garden members. Children 12 and younger attend free of charge.

With its family focus and dedicated aim to represent the culture, the festival generates

Japanese Garden is sprawling work of art

The Missouri Botanical Garden has captured some of the delights of Japanese culture in St. Louis.

The Japanese Garden is known in the native tongue as Seiya-en, a "garden of pure, clear harmony and peace."

Dedicated in 1977, it is the largest and oldest Japanese garden in North America. Stretched over 14 of the Garden's 79 acres, the Japanese Garden makes a striking contrast to the rest of the renowned site.

Jim Kalkbrenner, coordinator of the Garden's Japanese Festival, said Garden workers take great care to ensure the Japanese Garden is traditionally authentic.

The odd-shaped lake, for example, mirrors the Japanese practice of providing garden visitors with different vistas from separate locations around the lake. It also features natural waterfall replicas, bridges, beaches, islands and raked, dry gravel gardens. And, of course, there are the famously beautiful and always hungry Japanese carp.

"It's a place to come and completely lose yourself in another world," Kalkbrenner said.

There is more at work in a Japanese garden than merely aesthetics. No feature in a Japanese Garden comes without symbolism and meaning. Rocks are positioned in water like that of a mother turtle with her young. Pines extend like the wings of cranes.

sponsors includes corporate giants Anheuser-Busch and NationsBank, the majority of the sponsors are Japanese-owned companies. A great number of natives of Japan and Americans of Japanese heritage work at the festival to make it a success.

"The Japanese are very interested in sharing their culture," Coad said.

Coad, who has spent many years of his life working in Japan, hopes more American-owned companies will take note of what the festival offers and attracts local residents who have yet to venture to the Garden.

In one day, festival goers are exposed to many facets of Japanese culture, including Ikebana, Japanese floral design; and Bon Odori, traditional festival dancing. For those looking to take home a reminder of the festivities, a Japanese marketplace will open with a myriad of items.

"The festival enhances our quality of life," Coad said. "It shows our people a different way of life."

The Missouri Botanical Garden is located at 4344 Shaw Blvd. For more information about the Japanese Festival, call 577-9400.

Ground broken on new complex at Riverport

By Barbara Ponder

Michael O'Brien's voice takes on a youthful lilt when he talks about the new Dave & Buster's entertainment complex slated for Riverport.

"They have one game — a race car — with a big screen TV," said O'Brien, Maryland Heights' mayor. "The car is on hydraulics and when you turn, the car leans. When it goes over bumps, you feel it."

While the race car excites O'Brien, it's the tank simulation that thrills Douglas Pope.

"When you fire at an opponent, the whole tank shakes," said Pope, an executive of the Discovery Group, which is developing Dave and Busters. "The whole thing moves like you would expect it to."

O'Brien and Pope discovered Dave and Busters in Atlanta and Dallas, respectively.

"The goal is to entertain adults, bringing out the kid in everyone," Pope said.

"There's something for everyone — from more than 200 state-of-the-art interactive video and virtual reality games, to leisurely games of billiards at custom handcrafted billiard tables."

'Phantom' returning to haunt Fox Theatre

By Ronnie Roy
Staff writer

It is said that the third time's a charm, but for the Phantom, pretty much every time's a charm.

The third national touring production of Andrew Lloyd Webber's "The Phantom of the Opera" opens this week at the Fox Theatre and runs through Sept. 26.

Set-up for the massive stage production began last week, when nine of the 20 trucks that carry the main set arrived.

"Last week we put the stage floor down — we have our own stage floor — and that includes the candles, the proscenium, and we get the chandelier up and running," said David Hansen, advance stage manager. "We also focus the lighting and make sure there's enough room for everything."

The remaining 11 trucks arrived Monday from a performance in Fort Worth, Texas.

"Those trucks have all the props, costumes and 80 percent

Phantom facts

Some behind-the-scenes facts about the touring production of "Phantom of the Opera," as provided by the company:

- The 10-foot chandelier weighs 1,000 pounds. The Proscenium weighs 2.5 tons and the staircase in Act II weighs 1.5 tons. One costume, worn by the character Carlotta, weighs 35 pounds.
- The cast includes 36 performers and 11 mannequins used to fill in crowd scenes. There are 16 orchestra members and 37 scenery and electrical system operators.
- It takes the Phantom about one hour to get into his makeup.
- The main actors and actresses have microphones hidden in their wigs.
- More than 470 lighting instruments are used in the show; 141 candles rise out of the stage in the Phantom's lair lake scene.
- The stage manager is responsible for more than 350 cues delivered to the performers, stagehands and conductor. Three television cameras hidden on and around the stage and six monitors backstage relay the information.

of the scenery. The heart of the show arrives today," Hansen said Monday.

Hansen has a road crew of roughly 30 people. He uses 70 local stagehands to assist with the set-up and 120 local stagehands to help with the load-out.

Hansen will help with the show for the first week, then move on to help set up at the next city. He has been with the production since it started in March and worked with a previous "Phantom" company as well as several other major shows.

"It's a very difficult show, up there with 'Miss Saigon' or 'Ragtime.' It's one of the bigger musicals," he said. "But I really enjoy it. I feel it's a really great musical, and it keeps us busy."

Despite the elaborate set, the extravagant costumes, the fog machines, elephant and crashing chandelier, Hansen feels the enduring appeal of "Phantom" lies with something more basic.

"I feel it's the story. The love story and the conflict between the Phantom, Christine and Raoul has a timeless factor," he said.

Based on the novel "Le Fantome de l'Opera" by Gaston Leroux, "The Phantom of the Opera" tells the tale of a mysterious masked man who lurks beneath the catacombs of the Paris Opera House. He becomes obsessed with a young soprano named Christine, and his attempts to make her a star set up a conflict with the Opera managers and Christine's friend, Raoul.

"The Phantom of the Opera" had its world premiere on Oct. (See 'PHANTOM,' Page 12D)

The Granite City football team opened the season with a 28-14 loss to...

Vegas. After going 3-1 in pool play, the national tournament, Edwardsville beat State College (Pa.) 9-5 in the semifinals before knocking out the system (N.C.) 9-4 in the national tournament.

The national title was the first for...

No desire to live in the past

Trivia

People often romanticize about eras of history.

Some say they would like to have lived during the height of the French aristocracy. Others long for the days of the Roman Empire. Still others wish they could have been around during the Wild West period in America.

While I admit I sometimes fantasize about living in another time, as soon as I think of two modern conveniences, I snap back into the realization that I am fortunate to be alive in this day and age.

The two items are, of course, air conditioning and indoor plumbing.

I do not care how wonderful it was to be a knight in the court of the king of England or to be a renowned scholar in ancient Greece. Those people never knew the comfort of a cool house on a 95-degree day with a heat index of 103. It must have been especially rough on those knights, wearing all that armor.

As to indoor plumbing, the less said, the better. However, anyone who has experienced an outhouse should quickly drop the idea that it was a picnic to live on a Southern plantation in the 1800s.

For this week's trivia quiz, the topic is history. While it is fine to visit the past, I wouldn't want to live there.

1. Which historical figure is credited with founding the Holy Roman Empire?

2. Who was instrumental in leading France to victory over England in the Hundred Years' War?

3. Who was the queen of England from 1837 to 1901?

4. Who from history is nicknamed "The Scourge of God?"

5. Who proved that lightning and electricity are identical through the use of a child's toy?

6. Who led Venezuela and several other South American Fair and Air Show takes off

By Mary Shapiro
Staff writer

Neck strain attributed to Labor Day weekend just might become a commonality in Chesterfield Valley.

Stunt planes, acrobatics teams, military planes and antique aircraft will take to the air as the highlight of the sixth annual St. Louis County Fair and Air Show, Sept. 4 through 7, leaving fairgoers looking to the sky.

Performances by the Blue Angels, North American Aerobatic Team, Bud Light Micro Jet, Toyota Air Sports, an F-15 Eagle, an AV-8 Harrier and other aircraft are at 12:30 and 4 p.m. Saturday and Monday at Spirit of St. Louis Airport, 18270 Edison Ave.

countries to their independence from Spain during the 1820s?

7. When Columbus sailed to the New World in 1492, what were the names of the three ships that took him and his crew on the journey?

8. Mahatma Gandhi led his first protests against colonial oppression in which country?

9. Who is credited with creating the first legal code in world history?

10. Who were the three astronauts on the Apollo 11 mission, that put the first man on the moon?

Answers: 1. Charlemagne. While he probably led an interesting life, he never got to see a movie at a drive-in theater, like I have. 2. Joan of Arc. 3. Victoria. 4. No, not Carrot Top. The answer is Attila the Hun. 5. Ben Franklin, using a kite. 6. Simon Bolivar. This is a guy whose life should be made into a movie, if it has not been done yet. 7. The Nina, the Pinta and the Santa Maria. 8. South Africa, before he went home to India. 9. Hammurabi, king of Babylon. An argument could be made that he is responsible for Judge Judy. 10. Neil Armstrong, Buzz Aldrin and Michael Collins.

Kevin Carbery can be heard as a regular on "The Trivia Coast-To-Coast Show" from 8 to 11 p.m. Sundays on KMOX-AM (1120)

HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, OCT. 3

You may feel an emotional shift when the moon exits Sagittarius' warm and genial realm for that of Capricorn, a more serious and business-minded placement. Saturn, the planet of maturity, is favorably aspecting the moon in Capricorn, assuring that decisions made today will be wise ones. A benefit of Mercury's retrograde motion is the ability to utilize information for growth.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Anticipation of a long-awaited career victory has you feeling fidgety. Distractions help ease the tension of a long wait. Things are brewing — success will come soon enough, so be patient.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Continue your path of building and accomplishing, regardless of the warnings of others. The peaks and valleys of life are smoothed by consistent expansion. Your priorities fall in line with liquid ease.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Make sure your example to others is a good one, especially in the case of employees. Nobody makes mistakes on purpose. Those intending to be reliable and thorough may not have developed the qualities to do so.

CANCER (June 22-July 22).

Express your creativity — learn about your own motivations and needs. Be open to a renewed love relationship. Rebellious teens need you to set limits. A Virgo provides what you are lacking.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You get maximum results from projects started now. Use tact with co-workers and neighbors, who will be more touchy than usual. Romantic maneuvers could backfire, so play it straight. Ask for favors.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Sept. 3). A new and improved way of thinking touches every area of your life. Business plans come together in the next six weeks, giving you more freedom than ever. Your family depends on you in October, and you are rewarded for being there. Your best signs for love are Aquarius and Pisces.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). If you've reached an impasse in your career, take some dramatic action. A policy change within the next two weeks will give you more freedom. Partners are willing to make huge concessions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). You show imagination, but your real strength comes from your realistic. Sort out your actual problems from

In addition, more than 30 planes will be featured in a ground display, said June Schroeder, executive director of the fair.

Daredevil Robbie Knievel, son of Evel Knievel, will be jumping over three airplanes on his motorcycle at 2 p.m. Sunday, she said.

To keep things cool this year, Bi-State Development Agency will have four air-conditioned buses and four misting stations at the fair. Aggreko Co. will supply a large, air-conditioned tent and all the generators for the fair, she said.

The event normally draws a crowd of between 150,000 and 160,000 over the four days, Schroeder said.

A "Kids Town" area for youngsters will feature hands-on American history activities, a Dierbergs Maze, pony rides, an obstacle course race, a giant sandbox with games, a silent auction for stuffed animals, a game tent, play area and more.

imaginary ones. Following the rules is too easy. Claims are finally paid, bringing in large checks.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Be willing to loosen your grip on the controls. Your happiness has little to do with success in the eyes of others but is based on artistic accomplishments, good friendships and a sense of order to your life.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). All growth requires some risk. Resist a tendency to boss others around. Build relationships that are based on mutual respect — this may necessitate increased independence.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Stability is a rare gift in these changing times. Your temperament is what others count on. Your self-sufficiency combined with a sense of truly valuing others will keep your friendships thriving.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Apply for a glamour job — you'll get it. Diffuse tension at work with laughter. You may prefer to live in the company of others your own age rather than depending on certain relatives.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). You don't require the steady influences that some you know depend on. Your free spirit may make others uneasy. Avoid using temporary solutions — they only waste time.

and others can join the fun in June, when the $15 million complex is slated to open.

Discovery Group this week broke ground for the project on eight acres in the Entertainment Village at Riverport.

At 57,000 square feet, the facility is about the size of a new supermarket, Pope said.

Pope contacted Dave and Buster's about locating in Riverport because he was impressed with the entertainment facility.

Discovery is marketing and developing about 100 acres in Riverport for Boeing Co. and Sverdrup Corporation. Other projects at Riverport being developed by Discovery include the Wyngate Hotel, under construction, and 20,000-square-foot office building, still in the planning stages.

The family entertainment complex and Riverport were a "perfect fit," Pope said.

Dave and Buster's began in 1982 when two Arkansas businesses — Slick Willy's World of Entertainment and Buster's, a restaurant — combined. It now is a public company trading on NASDAQ and operates about 20 facilities nationwide, with plans to expand into the United Kingdom and Asia.

Based on figures from other locations, the Riverport Buster and Dave's is expected to draw more than one million visitors annually.

That's good news for O'Brien and other Maryland Heights officials.

"It's our hope to take Maryland Heights to a destination-type area," O'Brien said.

If you're traveling this weekend, remember your pet

A record 33.9 million people traveled a hundred miles or more from home last Labor Day weekend, according to the American Automotive Association.

If you are one of the many who are making travel plans for this coming Labor Day weekend, don't forget to plan for everyone in the family, including your dog.

The American Kennel Club, the nation's leading authority on purebred dogs, offers tips on how to care for your dog so that all of you can do exactly what you plan to. Relax and Have Fun! Here are the how to's:

- ✓ When traveling with your dog be prepared at all times. Make sure you have a strong leash and a collar with license/identification tags. Take a picture of your dog with you in case you are accidentally separated.
- ✓ If you have not already done so, now is the time to get your dog a permanent form of ID, such as a microchip or tattoo, and enroll it in a pet recovery program. (For information on AKC's Companion Animal Recovery program, call 800-252-7894.)

- ✓ Take along your dog's favorite blanket, toys, food and treats. Always bring water along when you travel (bottled water is best). Don't forget to bring any medications that the dog may need.
- ✓ When traveling by car, take a few short trips beforehand to get your dog used to being in the car. While on the road, be sure to assign an area in the car that the dog can feel is its own, and make sure the kids don't tease or annoy the dog.
- ✓ Before departing, feed your dog several hours in advance and give your dog plenty of exercise before putting it in the car.

✓ Call ahead to any hotels or motels you'll be staying at to make sure they permit pets. Do not leave your dog unattended at a hotel/motel. Many dogs are unhappy at being left behind and could be destructive or noisy.

✓ Remember, never leave your dog unattended in closed vehicle.

✓ For airplane, train or bus travel, call and ask about pet policy ahead of time.

✓ If you're planning on boarding the dog in a kennel instead of taking it with you, visit it first and ask for a look around. Make sure the facilities are clean (inside and outside), there's plenty of run area for the dogs, and there will be plenty of staff on hand at all times.

9, 1986, at Her Majesty's Theatre in London, winning every major British theatre award. The New York production opened Jan. 26, 1988, and swept the 1988 Tony Awards, winning seven, including best musical.

The most successful stage musical of all time, "Phantom" has worldwide ticket sales exceeding $2.8 billion. It is Broadway's fifth-longest running show of all time, recently celebrating its 10th anniversary. Worldwide, the show has been seen by more than 108 million people in 12 countries and 85 cities.

The show includes the songs

"Music of the Night," "Angel of Music" and "The Phantom of the Opera." The original London cast recording has sold nearly 2 million copies.

Brad Little, who recently played Raoul in the Broadway production, heads the 36-member company as the Phantom. The cast includes Amy Jo Arrington as Christine, Jason Peabworth as Raoul, Julie Schmidt as Carlotta Giudicelli, David Cryer as Monsieur Firmin, Richard Reardon as Monsieur Andre and Jennine Jones as Madame Giry. At some performances, Megan Starr-Levitt will play Christine.

Directed by Harold Prince, the Cameron Mackintosh/Really Useful Theatre Company Inc. production of "The Phantom of the Opera" will play at 8 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, 7:30 p.m. Sundays and Saturday and Sunday matinees at 2 p.m., with additional performances at 8 p.m. Sept. 21 and 2 p.m. Sept. 23.

Ticket prices range from $17 to $67. For ticket information, call 534-1111.

Narvaez tries to wrestle up success

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

During the third quarter of Granite City's 26-14 loss to Cahokia last Friday night, Warriors tailback Brooks Narvaez was leveled.

PREP

"That's what we call an X-rated hit," Granite City coach Nick Petrillo said. "You want to clear the kids and the family out of the room and shut off the film."

"Man, I got hit really hard," said Narvaez. "I thought I broke my neck for a minute."

Narvaez lay motionless on the ground as the trainers rushed to take a look, and both teams' coaches held their breath.

"It was all right, though," said Narvaez. "It wasn't too bad. There wasn't too much pain."

Narvaez shook it off and eventually returned to the game. But the Warriors, who built a 14-0 lead, had fallen behind in the fourth quarter and had to air out the offense.

Cahokia, the South Seven Conference champion and a playoff participant last year with a 9-1 record, held on for the win.

"I thought we should have beaten them," said Narvaez. "We played decent, not great, but neither did they. They were even smaller than us, and we aren't that big to begin with."

Narvaez did his part early to build Granite City's lead. He ran the ball in from the 5-yard line to open the scoring in the first quarter.

Narvaez also contributed a 28-yard run early in the game, but the Warriors could not take advantage as their drive ended when they failed to convert on fourth-and-5.

TIM STEPHENSON/Press-Record

Granite City running back Brooks Narvaez rushes for yardage against Cahokia last Friday night. Narvaez scored one of Granite City's two touchdowns.

He had a 52-yard TD run nullified by a holding penalty. But the dash softened the pass defense, and quarterback Zack May was able to find Kevin Elliott on a 22-yard TD pass.

Narvaez ended the first half with 66 yards rushing.

When Narvaez came back after the hit, he returned a kickoff to the Granite City 44-yard line, and saw that increased by 15 yards on a personal foul penalty called on Cahokia for tackling him out of bounds.

But the heat began taking its toll on the Warriors and their attack stalled.

They ended up losing 26-14 after a late interception was returned for a score. And Narvaez finished the night shy of the 100-yard mark.

"I think all of us — running backs, receivers and linemen — need to work on blocking," said Narvaez. "Every time I turned around, I had to help pick (May) up off of the ground. Our tackling wasn't great, either."

"We are pretty disciplined, but maybe lack a little in overall talent. If we could keep some guys healthy, we would do a lot better. That's what's hurting us right now."

Narvaez started playing football in third grade, when he lived in Baton Rouge, La. His family moved to Granite City when he was in sixth grade, and he began playing for Coedige.

"I moved around to different positions a lot," he said. "In seventh and eighth grade, I played fullback and didn't get the ball much. I started at running back when I was a freshman."

Narvaez has been hearing the footsteps of another Granite City runner, an echo from the past that Narvaez would like to quiet.

"Mike Posey is this runner we had here a couple of years ago," he said. "He had around 550 yards rushing in a season, and everybody's stuck on him. It makes me feel kind of second-rate to hear them talking about him all the time. I'd like to break 1,000 yards rushing in a season, if possible, to break his numbers and quiet everyone down. That would be nice — I'd be happy with that."

When football season is finished, Narvaez will return to the other sport he excels at, the sport in which Granite City excels — wrestling.

Last year, as a junior, Narvaez placed sixth in the 145-pound weight class at the IHSA state meet. He finished the campaign with a 44-6 record and won 16 of his matches with pins.

Narvaez' experience on the mats is

Edwardsville, Waterloo had big seasons

Bob Emig

Hidden in all the Mark McGwire hype, some truly remarkable stories have developed on the area amateur baseball level in the just-concluded seasons.

Our hats go off to the Edwardsville American Legion team and the Waterloo Buds of the Mon-Clair League.

Following Edwardsville High's perfect 40-0 IHSA Class AA championship season in June, Edwardsville Post 199 won the national Legion World Series in Las Vegas.

The Buds capped a 47-1 postseason tournament, winning their first 44 games of the season.

When Tom Pile's Edwardsville High team won the Illinois state championship, the boys — and the coach — were wondering whether they were national champions. They finished among the top teams in the country in nationwide polling, including No. 6 in the USA Today Super 25 — but, of course, they don't have national high school playoffs, so the Tigers were left wondering how they ranked nationally.

However, in Legion play this summer, Edwardsville proved they were the best team in the country, no doubt. Edwardsville swept through district, state and regional play before hitting the jackpot in Las Vegas. After going 3-1 in pool play at the national tournament, Edwardsville beat State College (Pa.) 9-3 in the semifinals before knocking off Cherryville (N.C.) 9-4 in the national title contest.

The national title was the first for an Illinois team since Chicago won in 1933. A Chicago team also won in 1931.

So, after 48 games, Edwardsville (41-7) earned the title as the national champion. With the high school title, Edwardsville had quite a daily double.

The Edwardsville national championship made Fifth Division chairman Wayne Wirz of Highland quite happy.

Wirz had two reasons to be happy after Alton's Hopkins Field in Gordon Moore Park was awarded the American Legion World Series for the 75th anniversary of the tournament in 2000.

The five-day event is expected to attract 40,000 fans and bring more than $2 million into the Alton area economy.

The Waterloo Buds may not have attracted the national and area attention that Edwardsville did, but the Buds were not without their standard-bearing accomplishments. They won their first 44 games of the '98 season to extend their winning streak to 48 games over two seasons. The streak ended with a 6-2 loss to Sauget in the Mon-Clair playoffs. The Buds proved they were champions, however, by beating Valmeyer and Sauget twice to capture the Mon-Clair title. It was their third tournament championship of the season, having previously won titles at the Prairie State Games and Valmeyer.

Included in the Buds' record-setting season was an unblemished 24-0 regular season, the first perfect record in the 30-plus years of the league.

Neil Fiala, the head baseball coach at Belleville Area College, was among the team's leaders. Fiala, 49, a former Cardinals and Reds player in the major leagues, led his team in batting average (.312), home runs (19) and steals (27 — out of 27).

"We were the best amateur team in the St. Louis area," Fiala said. "We picked up four new pitchers (Chris Hagan, Brandon Musso, Chris Braun and Dan Hendrickson), who made us a stronger team."

Fiala, now in his sixth season with the Buds, said a typical Buds season would have been in the neighborhood of 40 wins and 6 or so losses.

The Buds' dominance was such that they had a 400 team batting average, a 2.99 team earned run average and they stole 73 bases in 74 attempts.

Let's not forget McGwire, of course. He had 57 homers as of Tuesday, and was closing fast on Roger Maris' record 61 homers. The cut figure literally stops people in their tracks. I was at a golf driving range the other day in Edwardsville and asked the attendant about his business.

"We can tell when the Cardinals play on a Friday night," he said. "because our business is down. Everyone is watching McGwire."

Randazzo sets good example in opener

The Granite City football team gets ready for last Friday's opening game at Cahokia. The Warriors built a 14-0 lead before falling 26-14 to the Comanches.

The Granite City football team opened the season with a 26-14 loss to Cahokia last Friday night.

But there were some highlights for the Warriors, who played again this Friday against O'Fallon.

Warriors senior captain Anthony Randazzo led by example.

Defensively, he plugged the middle all night long. On a key second-down play in the first quarter, Randazzo stuffed Malcolm Henderson on a key second-down play as the Comanches were driving midway through the first quarter. Later in the first half, he missed blocking a punt by inches. Early in the second half, Randazzo wrapped up Cahokia's Chris McGee in the backfield on a sweep on a fourth-and-3 play. He followed that with a big tackle on running back Terrence Westbrook while.

Offensively, Randazzo caught a 56-yard pass by quarterback Zack May in the closing seconds of the loss. He

Pom team earns honors

The 22-member Granite City High School Pom Squad attended Universal Dance Association Camp at Northern Illinois University in Dekalb, Ill., Aug. 5-8.

The squad also earned numerous awards, including the Leadership Award, a second-place trophy for their home routine, four Spirit Stick Awards, a Superior trophy, and a Blue Superior ribbon for their home routine. The squad also qualified to participate in the National UDA competition.

Individual medals also were awarded to Amy Pennell and Kim Snell for their "All Star" performances.

Captains of the team are Amy Pennell, Kristin Berna, and Julie Scott. Squad members are Stephanie Ambuehl, Susan Baker, Tiffany Berna, Lydia Bettorf, Megan Billyeu, Ashley Bywater, Alyssa Chrusciel, Tisha Gilliam, Sara Halbrook, Bonnie Hill, Candice Johnson, Meagan McKeehan, Julie Mills, Lindsay Moore, Jennifer Smiddy, Stephanie Smiddy, Kimberly Snell, Rachelle Wallace, Anna Welsner. The coach is Vanessa Mattern.

Granite City wins home opener vs. CM

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

The Granite City boys soccer team played its first home game and displayed the form that has led the program to 10 Illinois High School Association championships in the last 26 years.

Granite City turned on the batteries and charged to a 9-0 shellacking of Civic Memorial on Tuesday night.

The Warriors (2-0) opened scoring in the 11th minute, when senior midfielder Corey Winfield's shot was tipped by an Eagles defensive player and sailed over the head of CM keeper Brandon Tinker.

Junior forward Dave Margrave knocked in his second goal of the year off a feed from junior Ian Kessel in the 25th minute.

The Warriors scored three more times to close out the first half. Winfield, Kessel and senior Justin Stone had the goals.

Warriors coach Gene Baker took out most of his starters in the second half, including keeper Brandon Williams, who had a strong, if uneventful, first half.

"After we took that lead, we worked on spreading the field without trying to score," said Baker. "We wanted to still play well, but without insulting Coach Woolfe or his kids."

The second half saw goals by sophomore defender Andy Romk, senior midfielder Jason Hileman, junior Josh Peacher and sophomore Chris Mertz.

The Warriors turned off the pressure, working on ball control. Three of the four goals were scored on mis-plays by the Eagles defense.

BOYS SOCCER

Freshman Andrew Crider nailed a beautiful diving header the best goal of the young season for Granite City.

"Corey (Winfield) did well, and (Jared) MacMillan was good at receiving the lead," said Baker. "Kessel came off the bench with real zeal. Our freshman, Crider, scored on the header, and that was a nice play."

"The team played well," said Winfield. "We talked to each other and did the things we had to do to win. If we play this way, we'll beat good teams this year."

Baker started six sophomores, and they didn't disappoint.

"All the young guys did great," said Winfield. "They didn't show any nerves out there. Jared turned out to be one of our best players."

With such a young supporting cast, the Warriors' veterans know they have heavy responsibilities on this team.

"We have to talk to those younger guys and set an example on and off the field," said Winfield. "Whether it's in school or when we go out on Friday nights, we have to be leaders. It's almost like we're older brothers."

Granite City faces a stiff challenge in the next game on tonight against St. Charles County (Mo.) Francis Howell Central and on Saturday against St. Louis Vianney.

"Everyone I've spoken to thinks

Siegel slides into sweeper role for SIUE

Collinsville's record-setting scorer will be defensive mainstay for Cougars

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

SIUE-Edwardsville women's soccer coach Brian Korbesmeyer had a tough decision on where to position freshman standout Tasha Siegel.

Siegel comes to SIUE with some incredible scoring statistics. Siegel, who was selected by Metro East girls soccer coaches as the Player of the Year for the Journal News-papers of Southern Illinois this past spring, was Collinsville High's all-time leading goal scorer. In four seasons, she netted 89 goals — including 33 goals in her senior campaign.

Siegel's first goal at SIUE is to help the Cougars produce victories and qualify for the NCAA Division II National Tournament. Her second objective was to start her quest for the goal-scoring records at SIUE.

At least in her first year, Siegel will have to concentrate on the primary goal — winning. Korbesmeyer has decided to move Siegel, 5-foot-10, to the backfield. Siegel will be the Cougars starting sweeper on defense.

Korbesmeyer said Siegel handled the decision with dignity and excitement in facing a new challenge.

"I envisioned her being there for four years," Korbesmeyer said. "If we need

"It would have been tough for Tasha to break into the lineup, but she is such a skilled player and reads the game so well that she deserves to start somewhere."

Brian Korbesmeyer

her somewhere else, I think she has the ability to switch fairly easy. Sweepers are hard to move in every year. If I can get her to play at the level we need... There are going to be mistakes made this year. With her being a freshman, we have to have patience. She is trying very, very hard. We know this. We have some sophomore and junior backs that are working well with her."

Siegel is the Cougars tallest back. She will combine with goalkeepers Beth Louderman (5-9) and Granite City's Shannon Roth (5-10) for SIUE's last line of defense.

"Tasha helps us in the back where we have never had anyone that tall before," Korbesmeyer said. "Then we have the two goalies who are about 5-10 and another back, Lindsey Strode, who is about 5-8.

"We are getting some taller players with Lindsey Strode and Tasha in the back, so balls flighted should be cleared by them in the air."

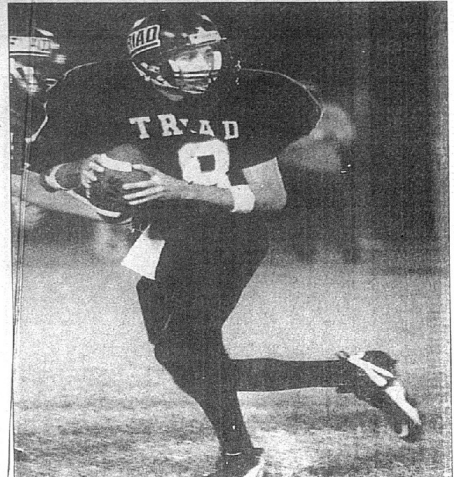

Siegel would have had a tough time cracking the starting lineup on the forward line with senior Janice Friederich and junior Megan Beagles returning.

Last year, Friederich surpassed Deana Wallace (current Collinsville girls soccer coach) as the Cougars' all-time leading scorer with 137 points. Wallace had established the mark of 104. Friederich is also the SIUE's all-time goal-scorer (52) and assists leader (33).

A year ago, Friederich became the school's first female player to post 20 or more goals in consecutive seasons. In 1996, she was the Great Lakes Valley Conference Player of the year.

Beagles was second on the team in scoring with 10 goals and five assists. Freshman recruit Leslie Henigman was the Missouri Class 3A Player of the Year and has brought in her scoring prowess.

"I think it would be easier for me to keep Megan and Janice up top because of their proven ability to score and Leslie Henigman, who scored a lot in high school," Korbesmeyer said. "It would have been tough for Tasha to break into the lineup, but she is such a skilled player and reads the game so well that she deserves to start somewhere."

Collinsville graduate Tasha Siegel will lead the SIUE back line this fall.

Granite City Park District plans meeting on youth baseball/softball

The Granite City Park District will conduct a meeting Sept. 8 to discuss our Youth Baseball/Softball program. This meeting is open to all coaches, managers, players and parents.

A survey will be made available for participants to express opinions.

that Central is going to be an excellent team," said Baker.

"They'll have a good club. The game will be real competitive, real aggressive, and real physical. They'll be a playoff club over there (in St. Louis). It's a good challenge for our school."

The Granite City junior varsity, playing prior to the varsity, also scored a lopsided victory over Civic Memorial, 8-0.

Andy Ronk was one of the Granite City players to score a goal during Tuesday's 9-0 outburst. The Warriors improved to 2-0 with the victory.

might be the best pre football player on the team.

• Craig Moosagian, a 6-foot-2, 220-pounder, made a big play for the Warriors shortly after a 31-yard gain by Cahokia. "Moosie" intercepted a pass by Cahokia's Darius Smith and rumbled back to the Cahokia 47-yard line. Granite City's drive stalled on an incomplete pass on fourth down.

Granite City wrestling standout George Kirgan also was solid in the middle defensively, stuffing the run and hustling to fill gaps.

• Erik Kambarian also showed a lot of hustle, and hauled down McGee late in the game to keep Granite's hopes alive.

• Sean Courtney was a standout in the defensive backfield, deflecting a pass on a first down play in the first quarter, and making a solo tackle on McGee in the fourth quarter on third-and-10.

• The offensive line played hard all night, and fed off the energy and skill of tailback Brooks Narvaez. Unfortunately, the early season weather and inexperience got to them, as Cahokia started to stop the run.

Narvaez deserves credit for getting up and returning to action after a huge hit in the second half.

"No doubt, I think wrestling helps out with football," Narvaez said. "It gives you stamina, increases your agility and flexibility."

"Wrestling is real hard on your body. Everything else is less demanding. If you can endure wrestling, you know you can endure anything, because nothing else is that hard."

Narvaez is looking for an athletic scholarship to extend his career through college. "I'm hoping to get a scholarship, but it's pretty tough," he said. "I definitely think, right now, my chances are better to get one for wrestling than football, but you never know."

He is employed at the Casino Queen as a security guard. She is employed as a cook in Granite City School District.

They are the parents of three children, Debbie Tedesco, Lori Jones and Sheri Holt, all of Granite City.

They have three grandchildren, Tommy Tedesco, Jennifer Alderm and Mait Jones.

The couple also celebrated the anniversary with a trip to Florida.

HOME IMPROVEMENT

Caring for lawn, environment can be done at same time

The lawn is a prominent and important part of the home landscape.

The homeowner wants to maintain an attractive lawn but have as low an impact on the environment as possible. This approach to lawn care is referred to as Integrated Pest Management. IPM is maximizing the use of cultural practices on the lawn and only using pesticides when needed.

Good cultural practices that will reduce weed problems in the lawn include using proper mowing height and proper fertilization. Mowing a lawn too short can open the lawn to weed invasion. The seeds of many weeds depend on light for germination. A turf that is maintained too short will allow more light to reach the soil surface, encouraging weed seed germination. Mowing a turf too short usually results in increased weed problems prompting the homeowner to use more herbicides to control the weed problems.

What is the proper mowing height to maintain a dense, actively growing turf that is both healthy and attractive? It is suggested that tall fescue be maintained at a 2 to 3 inch mowing height. Kentucky Bluegrass should be maintained at 2 to 2.5 inch mowing height.

Proper fertilization is important to maintain healthy turfgrass. Fertilization will maintain a good turf color and density. Grass growth will be rapid enough to discourage weed invasion. The use of slow-release forms of nitrogen is suggested for a more uniform turf growth over a longer period of time. This approach helps to avoid large flushes of growth over a short period of time that can result in excess grass clippings.

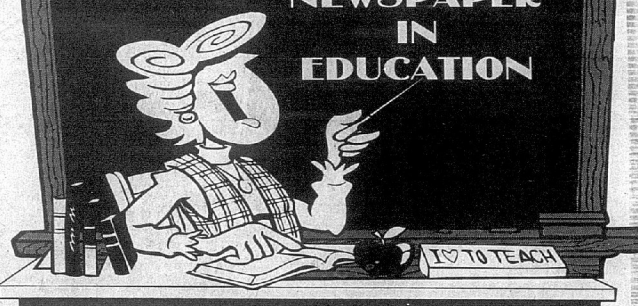

Insects can be a problem in lawns. There are basically two types of insects that feed on lawn grasses. These include surface feeders, such as sod webworms and the root feeders, such as white grubs. A properly maintained lawn will be more tolerant of insect damage. Monitor insect problems in your lawn. A low population of insects may not cause enough damage to the turf to justify control. Avoid applying pesticides as a preventive approach and treat only when the pest present needs to be controlled for the health of the turf.

Diseases are usually a result of a lawn ecosystem being thrown out of balance by various stresses, such as high temperatures combined with excessive irrigation and fertilization. The time of day that water is applied and the frequency and amount of water applied are very important management practices to minimize disease problems.

If areas of the turf die out from disease, have the disease identified. Reseed with a grass cultivar that has resistance to that disease problem, if one is available.

Keep the lawn mower blade sharp. A dull mower blade will tear the grass leaf leaving a ragged appearance. The ragged leaf edges can result in increased disease. Cleanly cut turf looks better and is healthier.
